

How to Use Student Accounts in ClassFlow

Students of all ages can create free ClassFlow accounts at classflow.com. This is perfect for utilizing Student Generated classes and taking your ClassFlow usage to the next level.

My Feed is at the center of the student ClassFlow homepage, displaying assignments and posts from instructors. Students may use the feed to communicate with their instructors, as well as attach resources from their ClassFlow accounts and upload resources from their devices.

Classes students are currently enrolled in will be listed on the left. Students can expand the dropdown menu to view Delivered Assignments, Notebooks, and Badges.

Students may enroll in additional classes by using the Enter Class Code field. Choose Join Class to join the class session this one time. Select Enroll to permanently enroll in a teacher's class roster.

Under the Resources tab, students may create lessons and activities of their own, which is a great way to demonstrate learning or practice concepts. They can create notebooks as well. Resources is also an ideal place to store items instructors have shared via the class feed.

Teachers can change students' ClassFlow passwords from their class roster, should they forget. This will work only for students currently enrolled in a Student Generated class.
