

How to Connect Students Through a Rostered Class in ClassFlow

Once students have their own ClassFlow accounts, connecting to your rostered class is quick and easy. Students can connect once you initiate a class session.

To begin from the Resources tab, select the resource you wish to deliver. When you click Deliver, choose the desired rostered class.

If you are on the home page, click the connection button, then Change Class to select the intended rostered class.

For Student-Generated classes, students will log into their ClassFlow accounts. On the left, they'll select the appropriate class name, then click the Join Class button to the right. If a student arrives at this screen before you have initiated the class session, they may have to click refresh for the Join Class button to become viable.

For Teacher-Generated classes, students will go to the Class URL. Click the Connection Panel to display this address. They will select their name from the roster that appears. If their name is absent from the roster, they can enter it and click Join Anyway.

The number of connected students appears on your Teacher Panel while delivering a lesson. Click the graduation cap to open the Connection Panel.

Results from all polls and assessments delivered during the class session can be located under the Classes tab in the My Feed and Class Feed sections, as well as under the Class Menu.

Follow us on Twitter @LearnPromethean, subscribe to our Promethean Video YouTube channel, sign up to hear from us, and visit our website to learn more.

