

How to Utilize a Secondary Device in ClassFlow

Logging into and utilizing a secondary device is a little-known best practice within ClassFlow. A secondary device allows you to easily monitor and intervene with struggling students.

To utilize a secondary device, simply log in to your ClassFlow account from a device that is separate from your front-of-class display. For example, if you were using ClassFlow through Google Chrome on your ActivPanel, you might also log into ClassFlow on a tablet.

Use a secondary device to toggle the Show Names switch during ClassFlow polling. This may allow you to identify students who are struggling and intervene with them in real-time, rather than reviewing poll results and learning this later.

For the same reasons, you could use a secondary device when delivering ClassFlow assessments.
